b. Criteria Range: The species is known to occur or is likely to occur within the HCP/NCCP study area, based on credible evidence, or the species is not currently known in the study area but is expected in the study area during the permit term (e.g., through range expansion or reintroduction to historic range). Status: The species is either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ listed under the federal ESA as threatened or endangered, or proposed for listing;</li> <li>▪ listed under CESA as threatened or endangered or a candidate for such listing, or listed under the Native Plant Protection Act as rare; or</li> <li>▪ expected to be listed under ESA or CESA within the permit term. Potential for listing during the permit term is based on current listing status, consultation with experts and Wildlife Agency staff, evaluation of species population trends and threats, and best professional judgment.</li> </ul> Impact: The species or its habitat would be adversely affected by covered activities or projects that may result in take of the species. Data: Sufficient data exist on the species' life history, habitat requirements, and occurrence in the study area to adequately evaluate impacts on the species and to develop conservation measures to mitigate these impacts to levels specified by regulatory standards. Species proposed for coverage in the Plan were limited to those species for which impacts from covered activities were likely, in order to provide take authorization for the highest priority species. However, many other special-status species are expected to benefit from the Plan, as described in Chapter 5.
